Photos:

On occasion we make take photographs of students during class or at special events, such as performances, to use in the advertising or promotion of the dance school. As these photos may contain an image of your child we require parental consent before Boyd Academy of Dance uses these images. We respect your privacy and full names of students are never used. All photographs remain the property of Boyd Academy of Dance.

Competitions:

Students are invited to join competition troupes following consultation between the Principal and Teachers. A consent form outlining student's commitments and responsibilities must be signed by the student and their parent/guardian before being accepted into the troupe.

Students in competition troupes must attend all classes, rehearsals and competitions entered by Boyd Academy of Dance. Failure to do so may result in being excluded from the troupe.

Students wishing to undertake solo, duo or trio competitions must register with the studio first. Troupe commitments will always take priority over solo, duo or trio dance commitments.

No student may perform in more than three disciplines. Students may register for up to six competitions but must not compete in any more than five competitions in any year. This does not include Troupe commitments.

Students must enter themselves in solo, duo or trio competitions – it is their sole responsibility to read competition rules and complete entry forms correctly and submit them on time.

Students entering solo, duo or trio competitions will be responsible for their own costumes, music, check in and perform their own warm-ups. Teachers can attend at their own discretion.
